

avantgarde

The “Caesar Rodney” birth chart of the USA

I tentatively propose a birth around 9:45 AM on 2 July 1776 in Philadelphia PA. Historically, this would be a plausible time for when the Continental Congress passed the last part of the Lee Resolution, the part declaring independence, shortly after the arrival of Caesar Rodney who had travelled through the night from Dover to Philadelphia. The date is certain, the time speculative, but a plausible one according to the very few primary sources for that day. Astrologically, it would seem to explain many characteristics of the USA better than other commonly used charts, but this will, of course, be a matter of debate.

The proposed birth chart features Uranus at the MC in Gemini, Virgo rising with Neptune (and Lilith) in the first house and the moon in Capricorn closely behind Pluto, both in the fifth house. For example, the fact that the USA tends to be “split” on many issues and into two parties or into Pepsi and Coke, and so on, could be considered to be largely due to the moon in Capricorn (“Janus head”) and the MC with Uranus in Gemini (twins).

Details

So far just this teaser, in case somebody wants to investigate on their own before I eventually get to it. . .