Teslacard Postcard Action 2010

In early summer 2010, as some kind of art project codenamed Teslacard, I sent about 250 postcards to astrologers and astrological organizations worldwide, including to many well-known ones (see the books exactphilosophy.net 2017, 2019 or 2020 for a complete list). The postcards sketch my elementary model of the star signs in terms of transformations of the elements, which I first publicly postulated in 2002. Images and photos of the postcards below.

FIRE  The wood ('earth') that is burnt by the fire of life is in myth the wound of the grail king ('leo') or the deadly wound of chiron ('sagittarius'), and it turns into knowledge and wisdom ('air') that so becomes immortal.	AIR  Teiresias ('libra') is blinded by Hera ('loses fire'), but is given the gift of inner vision ('water') by Zeus; so from gemini's random flashes of interest ('fire') to aquarius' universal love raining down equally ('water').

EARTH Persephone ('virgo') is at first only looking at the sunny surface ('fire'), but then starts to look down to earth to pluck a flower, and is abducted to the underworld ('water'). 	WATER "The Terrible Mother ['earth'] who seeks to retain control [...] and the Divine Father ['air'] towards whom the individual aspires." —Liz Greene on Cancer in 'The Astrology of Fate'
